

Free Bill Calendar Start here & guide

Open in Google Sheets

1. Unzip your download. Use the CLEAN .xlsx file for your own finances. Keep the DEMO file separate.
2. In a desktop browser, sign in to your own Google account and open Google Drive. Select New > File upload, then choose the CLEAN .xlsx file.
3. Open the uploaded file with Google Sheets. Choose File > Save as Google Sheets to create a native spreadsheet. Menu wording may vary. Keep the original download as your reset copy.
4. Keep the native copy private. Start on START HERE. Use US date settings and one currency. Google Sheets is the supported application; the .xlsx file is a delivery/source format, not a separately supported Excel edition.

Your copy and your privacy

Your entries stay in the copy you control. There is no bank connection, external script, automatic payment or financial-data upload built into this workbook. Do not put bank passwords, full account numbers or card credentials in the sheet.

Amber cells are inputs. Calculated cells are white or sage. In Google Sheets you can protect a sheet and exempt its input ranges using Data > Protect sheets and ranges. Warning protection helps prevent accidental edits; it is not access control.

Quick start

Choose a month on BILL CALENDAR. Enter up to thirty bill occurrences on BILLS with due date, amount and Open/Paid status. Mark Paid only when fully paid.

The month shows open amounts on their original due dates. The demo has 195 of open bills: internet 65 and electricity 130.

Troubleshooting and limits

Add future bill occurrences manually. There are no automatic renewals, income schedules, partial payments, actual bank balances or projected carry.

This file is free for personal household use. Share the eventual free-download page instead of reselling the template. No email is required by the template. The paid files must remain separate from this free download.
